

Quiz

Which of the following is true?

1. A percept refers to an agent's outputs at any given instant.
2. Robotics might be involved in getting an agent to pass the Total Turing Test.
3. An agent function expresses only information about the agents sensors.